With membership in every state we provide you with stunning photographic examples of this growing sport for both editorial and feature content for your publication and outlet. The fish is always the star at The American Carp Society. Our members consist of professional photographers who have a true passion for this great fish and can provide stunning pictorial examples of why this sport is growing at an ever increasing rate every year.

Science & History Behind Carp

With decades of experience and a US biologist on staff we have both the background and credentials to provide your readers with scientific fact-based viewpoints as to why this sport is constantly growing here in the USA. As the authority on anything 'CARP' in the USA, The American Carp Society can help you with clarification of both science and fact with any latest trending news on the species. Not understanding the different species of 'Carp' in North America has led to (Cyprinus Carpio) being confused with the invasive Silver 'Carp' (Hypophthalmichthys molitrix) and news outlets and publications printing factually incorrect data... leaving their readers both confused and misinformed. We can help your readers understand the differences between Common, Mirror, Leather, Grass and the invasive 'Silver' or 'Asian - Carp' as it is now known.
